Our Mission and Commitment

AIA Illinois, established in 1946, is the state component of the American Institute of Architects. From our Springfield headquarters, situated near the Illinois Statehouse, we represent over 4,200 members dedicated to advancing architectural excellence and creating livable communities across the state, from Cairo to Chicago.

Empowered by members to champion the profession of architecture, our mission is to lead the profession through advocacy, leadership training, and impactful programs. We support all members—from interns and sole practitioners to government employees and potential clients—by promoting innovation, fostering professional development, and enhancing the visibility of architecture in our communities.
